

Dear Exact Flooring customers

What is new in the marketplace?

Exact flooring has broaden its services and I welcome Corneli Mong whom is running our wooden windows and door section – any one that needs help with manufacturing of new standard and custom made wooden doors or windows please feel free to liase with Corneli 0790181658 or mail wow@exactflooring.co.za She has been in the wooden doors and window industry for over 22 years. Here knowledge is of great value to us. I am confident that you as client of Exact Flooring will benefit from her myriad knowledge and service that she will over to you

New on the market – Vinyl flooring – or previously known as Novilon floors. What makes these floors so unique – simply because of its durability especially in moist areas e.g. bathrooms and kitchens. The Vinyl flooring systems that are available to you can be used in homes, office, stores, shopping malls and even industrial uses. The core board is no longer being manufactured from wood (HDF – high density fibre boars) and the ceramic topping makes this a high scratch resistance long lasting floor. With the great colour ranges that are available I am sure that we will find the right texture and style that you are waiting for. For more information please visit www.exactflooring.co.za .

Any one that requires Silkwood oil based wood penetrating protection products in bulk are welcome to liase with Corneli 0790181685. The Silkwood range of decorative wood coating products and sealers range from those for industrial application to those for DIY/Domestic use. The continuous upgrading of the wood treatment product range and the inclusion of customised raw material components has created a range of products that are outstanding in terms of:

- Minimising wood degradation such as cracking, end splitting, warping and grain rise.
- Durability.
- Cost Performance.
- Low Maintenance

Silkwood is used by Leading Manufacturers of Wooden Doors and Windows. Speciality Colours and Wood Sealers can be made to client's requirements on large orders
